Dear David Walliams,

I am writing to you to say a mammoth, cosmic, gargantuan thank you for allowing our teacher, the wonderful Mrs Summers to read Slime and The World's Worst Children to us throughout lockdown.

These books are so funny and brilliant. I really love the bit in Slime where Jemima got booted up the bottom, it really made me laugh! My favourite character from World's Worst Children is Brian Wong (who is never ever wrong!) because I love that he tried to count to infinity and that when he got old he didn't stop counting. I always used to tell my mum that I was going to count to infinity but my mum said, "Maybe it's better not to!"

I have read most of your books, the one I'm reading at the moment is The Beast Of Buckingham Palace, it is lots of fun but very gruesome! My favourite book of yours so far is Demon Dentist because there are so many funny words in it and the story is so clever.

I hope that you and your cute dogs, Bert and Ernie, have all been well through lockdown. Thank you again for allowing our teacher to read your books to us, it has been lots of fun.

Yours sincerely,

Iris
